%So We'il Go No More a Roving by Lord Byron %

So, we'll go no more a roving So late into the night, Though the heart be still as loving, And the moon be still as bright.

For the sword outwears its health, And the soul wears out the breast, And the heart must pause to breathe, And love itself have rest.

 ${ ilde{\mathbb{Z}}}$  Though the night was made for loving, And the day returns too soon, % Yet we'll go no more a roving By the light of the moon.

So Well Do no More a Roving by Lord Byron
So, well go no more a roving
So late into the night,
Though the heart be still as loving.
and the moon be still as bright.
O
For the sword outwears its health,
and the soul wears out the breast,
and the heart must parise to breathe,
and love itself have rest.
U
Though the night was made for loving,
and the day returns too soon,
Vet well as no more a roving
Yet well go no more a roving By the light of the moon.
