

Good morning Mr Kung, Vice Principals, teachers and fellow school mates. This morning, I would like to share a few words with teachers of this school and friends that I've made throughout the years.

Throughout our lives, our family, friends and teachers have helped prepare us for this day. As we, the S5 and S7 students would graduate from school this year, we will be making the transition into adulthood and taking on all of the responsibilities that go with it. Soon we will be the ones who help young people as they make their way through school - through their growing years. We must realize that just as those who helped us get to this day were examples to us, we too will be setting an example for future Ng Wah boys..

A famous comedian, once related this remarkable story: She said, "When I was little, I had a friend whose dog was going to have puppies in a week or so. The dog was playing out in the yard one day and got in the way of the lawn mower, badly injuring her two hind legs. The dog was rushed to the vet to be sewn up, and in a short time she learned to walk again. She didn't spend any time worrying, she just learned to walk without the aid of her back legs. She simply took two steps forward, flipped up her backside, and repeated this process again and again. Soon she gave birth to six little puppies, all in perfect health. She nursed them and then weaned them. And when they learned to walk, they all walked just like her."

What kind of example do you want to set for others to follow? How do you want others to remember you?

People will remember us by the example we set. Each one of us is unique, special and capable of making a difference in our own way. We must strive to set a good example - one that conveys hope, courage and faith.

As we remember those who have had a positive influence on our lives, let us make a commitment to carry on their example. Who we are and the legacy we leave will have a lasting impact on those we encounter in our lives.

Best wishes to all S.5 & S.7 students especially to S7B. Thank you.
