

Sharing of the Morning Prayer

I am sure that we must make mistakes more than once in our life. But the most important thing is what we can learn after making mistakes. For example, when you fail in a Math test , you can think what mistakes you have made. Then, you can learn one more thing! Actually, it is so easy for you to improve yourself.

There is a Chinese proverb, Failure is the mother of success . I think it is a good proverb for us to learn ‘ Learning by mistakes’ is very important.

I have such an experience before.

Where I was in primary 5, my English was not good at that time. I think of my problem, then I set a study plan for myself to follow. After that, my English has improved.

So, I hope that you need not to be upset after you have made mistakes, you must think of them and make some improvement.
