

My feelings on the Resignation of 5 Legislative Councillors

Good morning Principal, Vice-Principals, teachers and fellow schoolmates. Last Tuesday, 5 Legislative Councillors from the Civic Party and League of Social Democrats resigned with an aim of forcing a de facto referendum on universal suffrage. Their resignations have received many critics from both sides of the political spectrums.

From my point of view universal suffrage is a need in Hong Kong but not through this method. Before making the decision, the pan-democrats should have taken into consideration the people who voted for them during the election. They promised the citizens that they will voice their opinion in the Legco, but with their resignation, who will speak up for the public? Will the plan be feasible is another question that the pan-democrats must think about.

I think they should sit down with the government to discuss about their proposals and the government too should listen to opinion raised by the pan-democrats as they too speak for the public. I only hope that we could have peace and not chaos in Hong Kong. Thank you.
