

My Favourite Novel : Pride and prejudice by Jane Austen

Good morning, Principal, Vice-Principals, Teachers and Schoolmates,

I am Leo from S6B. Today I would like to share my favourite English novel with you. The novel is called Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen. Elizabeth is the main character in this novel. She is considered to be a most intelligent and eligible young woman who has the attitude of a queen but the heart of a kind person. She grew up in a modest family with four other sisters around her, where she was always supported and helped her sister Jane, who was her closest sister and best friend. Their mother, Mrs Bennet, was obsessed with the idea of marriage for the girls; she tried hard to find a suitable man for each of them, but her methods did not work well.

When Jane finally finds the man she loves, Mr Bingley, Elizabeth starts paying attention to his best friend Mr Darcy, who she finds proud and disrespectful. Although Elizabeth has a loving heart, she has a bad attitude towards Mr Darcy. Her prejudice towards him builds a tough barrier between their silent love. This is the best book to illustrate the negative effect of pride and prejudice when it comes to relationships between people, and it combines knowledge of life with a dynamic plot. I strongly recommend everybody to read this book. It may be hard at first but it will definitely be worth it! That's the end of my sharing. Thank you.
