

My Favourite Novel : The Little Prince

Good morning, Principal, Vice-Principals, Teachers and Schoolmates,

I am Fred from 4D. Today I would like to share a story book with you. It is a very popular child fiction – The Little Prince. It was first published in 1943 in France, and has been translated into more than 250 languages.

In this book, the Little Prince has visited different planets, each of which was inhabited by a single, narrow-minded adult, each meant to comment on an element of society. Among them, there was a businessman who thought about his business day and night without rest. The Little Prince could not figure out why he was that concentrated on his work instead of enjoying his life.

Yet some people in reality also like this character – only think of their work and strive for their future, but never stop to enjoy the current life.

After reading this book, I try to think of myself a lot more, and realize there is so much to cherish in my life. If you are also interested in this book, go to the library and borrow it, you may also get inspired by it.

Thank you very much.
