

My Favourite Novel – The Time Keeper

Good morning Principal, Vice Principals, Teachers and fellow schoolmates,

Today, I would like to share a book with you called The Time Keeper by Mitch Albom. It is a great book with wonderful messages. The book is about the punishment of the inventor of the world's first clock who tries to control time. He is finally granted his freedom, along with a mission: the chance to redeem himself by teaching two people the true meaning of time.

He returns to the world and embarks on a journey with two partners: a teenage girl who is about to give up on life and a wealthy, ageing businessman who wants to live forever. To save himself, the Time Keeper must save them both.

The most powerful lesson I have learnt from the Time Keeper is that one cannot compare the time they have with how other people live. Everyone has 24 hours a day. God has given each of us one life to live here on Earth, and it's up to us to fill our days with meaning and passion. Meaningfulness does not depend on how much time we have but what we have done with the limited time we possess. We should enjoy the presence of our dear family and the people we love and respect, every day of the week.

The Time Keeper is a story that teaches readers to move on, to accept our fate and most of all to cherish the time we have. This is the end of my sharing. Thanks you.
